Continuing Professional Education Lecture: Journal Critiquing: Going Beyond the P-Value 1 July 2020

Synopsis

In this era of evidence-based medicine with rapidly evolving evidence, it is pertinent that clinicians are well-versed in critical evaluation and appraisal of literature and evidence that is presented.

Journal club presentation is a useful platform to keep abreast of new developments. It engages fellow practitioners in interacting and discussing on the clinical question presented in the journal article.

In this short lecture, the speaker will go through key elements of journal club presentation to achieve a critical understanding of the results beyond p-value interpretation.

Speaker

Dr Wang Aiwen
BSc (Pharm) Hons, Pharm D, BCPS

Dr Wang Aiwen is a drug information pharmacist at Singapore General Hospital (SGH), and has a joint appointment as a lecturer in National University of Singapore (NUS). Her responsibilities as a drug information pharmacist includes promoting evidence-based medicine practices through drug information consults, evidence-based reviews for the Pharmacy and Therapeutics Committee, and other research and educational activities within the Department of Pharmacy.

Since 2008, she has been involved with a wide range of educational activities within the Pharmacy department at SGH, SingHealth, and even at the national level. She is passionate and committed to excellence in educating the next generation of healthcare professionals.
