A well-respected and visionary clinician-leader, Prof Ang Chong Lye has led Singapore General Hospital (SGH) for the past nine years. He transformed SGH's clinical services, research and education, and spearheaded numerous IT initiatives to enhance the hospital's integration, safety and operational efficiency. On 1 May 2017, Prof Ang will be passing the leadership baton to Prof Kenneth Kwek, currently Deputy Chief Executive Officer (DCEO), SGH. Prof Kwek will relinquish his appointment as CEO, KK Women's and Children's Hospital (KKH) on the same date.

We are very thankful to Prof Ang for his sterling leadership at SGH. ■

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

ONE STOP SHOP FOR CLINICAL EVALUATION OF VACCINE & DRUGS

The Tanoto Foundation made a generous contribution towards the setting up of the Viral Research and Experimental Medicine Centre @ SingHealth Duke-NUS (ViREMICS). ViREMICS aims to accelerate the translation of drugs and vaccines to reduce the time needed for new drugs and vaccines to reach those in need during epidemics and outbreaks. It is the first academic research facility in Singapore to provide ISO-accredited molecular tools to develop new vaccines and drugs for patient and acts as a one stop shop for academia and industry partners to conduct pre-clinical to early phase clinical evaluation of vaccines and drugs.

ViREMICS is led by Associate Professor Jenny Low, a clinician-scientist and Senior Consultant from Singapore General Hospital's (SGH) Department of Infectious Diseases and Professor Ooi Eng Eong, Deputy Director of Duke-NUS Medical School's Emerging Infectious Diseases Programme. ■

BUILDING A COMMUNITY OF CARE

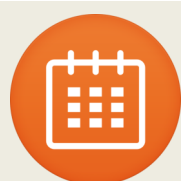

On 26 April 2017, SingHealth Regional Health System (RHS) and Kreta Ayer-Kim Seng constituency launched the Community of Care programme which aims at enhancing health and social care for elderly residents in Chin Swee Road and Banda Street who have complex medical conditions post-discharge and face social issues such as loneliness and financial difficulties. Patients who benefit from this programme are first identified by SGH's multi-disciplinary care team before they are discharged. SGH then works with Temasek Foundation Cares – Care Close to Home team to put together a personalized post-discharge care plan and deliver it to the patients in their own homes. The Care Close to Home team offers services such as health checks, packing of medication and providing caregiver training to helps/family members. Currently more than 260 patients benefit from this programme and key partners include the Agency for Integrated Care, Kreta Ayer Seniors Activity Centre and general practitioners in Chinatown. ■

Mr Wong Ah Ann, one of the beneficiaries of the Community of Care programme, received a special home visit in the morning of the launch of Community of Care programme.

NEW PARTNERSHIP: THE GOVERNMENT OF NEPAL & SINGHEALTH

On 3 May 2017, the Government of Nepal and SingHealth launched their partnership to train 560 Nepalese hospital leaders, clinician-specialists, nurses and allied health professionals in post-disaster recovery. The three-year training programme aims to equip participants with the expertise to manage emergencies after a disaster to ensure timely response and recovery, as well as develop disaster response systems and protocols to ensure strong governance and preparedness. The programme is supported by almost S$600,000 in grand funding from Temasek Foundation International and to further multiply the impact of the training, 20 clinician specialists will be trained in Singapore as master trainers after completion of the programme. They will in turn train 750 other healthcare professionals in Nepal. Training will commence in June, conducted by a multidisciplinary team of doctors, nurses and allied health professionals from Singapore General Hospital. ■

The three-year programme was launched in Nepal on 3 May 2017 by Honourable Minister Gagan Kumar Thapa, Ministry of Health, Nepal and Dr Mohamad Maliki Bin Osman, Senior Minister of State, Ministry of Defence and Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Singapore

3.5 years of planning and over 700 meetings have been conducted with 45 user groups to gather their inputs for the Outram Community Hospital (OCH). A mock-up of the OCH ward was also built on site to facilitate inputs and to receive feedback. Representatives from the user groups, patients and key community partners were invited to view and share their feedback to ensure that OCH is truly patient-centric! ■

EVENTS OVERVIEW

Forest of dreams

As an effort to increase awareness for Eating Disorders (ED) week, the multidisciplinary team and patients from the ED programme put together this enchanting installation of dream catchers at the Bowyer Block corridor. The dream catchers symbolize the hopes and dreams of the hopes and dreams of clinicians, patients and family members who yearn to put a stop to these 'living nightmares'. ■

ARTS@KKH

The multi-talented students from East View Primary were back on 28 Mar 2017 at KKH to put up their third Arts@KKH performance. The students from the Dance Club wowed the crowd with their moves for 'Can't stop the feeling' and the Choir and Music Interest Club with their rendition of 'Hakuna Mattata', 'One Single Light' and 'STARZ Medley'.

Arts@KKH is held either once or twice a month in the afternoons at KH Women's Tower Podium at Level 1. ■

LAUNCH OF WOMEN IN SCIENCE

On 21 Mar 2017, SingHealth Duke-NUS AMC launched the Women in Science (WinS) Network to nurture and empower women researchers across the cluster to succeed in their scientific career. The network will connect women researchers in SingHealth and Duke-NUS by organizing targeted training workshops for professional development, encouraging networking and peer support, facilitating social events in the community and building mentoring relationships between senior and junior women clinician researchers.

Female researchers who are interested to be part of the Network and wish to subscribe to the Network's communication materials may email ocs.amri@duke-nus.edu.sg. ■

EVENTS OVERVIEW

SPECIAL TREAT FOR SKH'S CONSTRUCTION TEAM

Credits: Tomorrow's Medicine

To thank the construction team at Sengkang Health (SKH) for putting in the countless hours of hard labour in building the Sengkang General and Community Hospitals, the SKH team delivered lunch boxes to the construction workers and set up a photo booth for the workers to bring home photo mementos. 5,000 workers are working on the construction site towards the 2018 completion and SKH CEO Professor Christopher Cheng shared, "Our construction team led by Penta-Ocean has played an integral role in the building of our Sengkang General and Community Hospitals as it prepares to serve the residents of northeast and for generations to come. We hope that when completed, they will be proud of what they have built and see the fruits of their labour."

"While it was a small gesture, seeing the many happy faces when they received the lunch boxes was enough for us." ■

On 8 April 2017, our clinician colleagues gathered at the Grand Ballroom, Ritz Carlton for the annual tradition SGH Lecture and Formal Dinner. The SGH Lecture, a highlight of the Formal Dinner, has become a prestigious forum for some of the most prominent global and local leaders to share with us their valuable insights on a diverse range of topics spanning scientific research, healthcare, education and globalization.

This year, we are honoured to have Dr Ng Eng Hen, Minister of Defence to grace our event and deliver the 24th SGH Lecture—An Ode to SGH – Giving Hope for Generations. He shared that as healthcare professionals, we give the most important gift of all – Hope.

"Hope not only to those who receive their care, but also to this generation and the next, by continually raising high standards for medical care. Nothing is constant in medicine and it is such "divine discontent" that drives all medical practitioners to find better treatments for patients." ■

SGH 22ND ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC MEETING

The SGH 22nd Annual Scientific Meeting (ASM) was held on 7—8 April 2017 at the SGH Campus. Themed ‘Research for Better Patient Outcomes’, the meeting drew over 220 abstract submissions by staff from the various SingHealth institutions and students from Duke-NUS Medical School. The meeting was graced by Dr Lam Pin Min and concluded with the presentation of the SGH 22nd ASM Awards at the Formal Dinner on 8 April 2017. ■

EVENTS OVERVIEW

SHARING BEST PRACTICES BEYOND BORDERS

Organised by the Singapore Nurses Association, more than 200 nurse leaders from 10 Asian countries gathered in SGH Campus for the inaugural Temasek Foundation International @ 10 Asia Nurse Leaders Forum on 10—12 April 2017. The nurse leaders, nurse educators and specialist nurses from China, Sri Lanka, India, Bhutan, Nepal, Indonesia, Vietnam, Myanmar, Thailand, Cambodia and Singapore gathered to exchange ideas and best practices at the Forum.

They are some of the 3,200 nurse leaders and specialists in Asia who have been trained by clinicians from SingHealth, National Healthcare Group, as well as experts from tertiary education institutes in Singapore, TF Int'l's nursing capability programmes since 2007.

The forum was part of a series of forums and networking programmes marking TF Int'l's tenth year of partnerships in building capabilities in Asia and beyond. ■

Official opening of Temasek Foundation International @ 10 Asia Nurse Leaders Forum 2017. The Forum was officially opened by Dr Amy Khor, Senior Minister of State for Health and Environment and Water Resources.

2017 HAND HYGIENE DAY

On 5 May 2017, SGH and SingHealth celebrated World Hygiene Day with events and activities throughout the campus. SingHealth's Hand Hygiene mascot, designed by KKH Senior Nurse Manager Shen Haiying, winner of the mascot design contest was unveiled.

The mascot highlights the most important points in hand hygiene procedure: The 7 steps of handwashing and the 5 key moments of hand hygiene using hand rub or hand wash to prevent infections; all in the name of Target Zero-Harm, the common goal in ensuring our patients receive the care they deserve – safe care.

The mascot will be placed at various locations throughout SingHealth institutions and polyclinics to remind staff and patients the importance of good hand hygiene. ■

Activities conducted around the campus to celebrate Hand Hygiene Day.

EVENTS OVERVIEW

CAMPUS FELLOW FORUM

Dr Sivakumar Homathy, a SGH clinical fellow from Sri Lanka kick started this year's first Campus Fellow Forum with an animated presentation about her attachment experience at SGH. Dr Homathy shared that she enjoyed her attachment with the Dept of Clinical Pathology very much, often taking part and attending in various campus events and activities such as the monthly Campus Wide Clinical Meeting, talks conducted by SGH Work-Life department and the SingHealth Duke-NUS Scientific Congress etc.

The forum was well received, with doctors, fellows and fellowship teams from various SingHealth institutions attending the event. The event is also supported by colleagues from Singhealth International Collaboration Office (ICO). The next Campus Fellow Forum will be held on Friday, 16 June 2017 ■

Speaker & participants at the PGMI Afternoon talks.

PGMI AFTERNOON TALKS

Since the launch of PGMI Afternoon Talks, the talks have been very well received. We invited Ms Rachel Lee a qualified Naturopath from Southern Cross University (SUC) who have undergone postgraduate studies in Integrative Therapies and Herbal Pharmaceuticals from The University of Sydney to present on Healthy Living and Detoxification on 11 Jan 2017. Participants get to understand what is detox and what it means to detox from the inside out.

We also invited Mr Patrick Ker, Senior Principal Occupational Therapist, SGH and Director of SGH Postgraduate Allied Health Institute to present on Office Ergonomics on 15 Mar 2017. Participants learnt more about the common injuries due to poor ergonomics and how to set up an ergonomic-friendly work-station.

The third PGMI afternoon talk on Helping Individuals in Crisis was presented by Mr Koh Chee Wai, Principal Medical Social Worker, SGH on 31 May 2017. He shared with participants how to identify stress responses and how to provide initial help for persons in distress.

The next PGMI Afternoon Talk— Helping Understanding Basic Health Insurance – CPF Insurance Schemes, will be held on 20 September 2017 at Academia. For more information, please email shirley.au.s.w@sgh.com.sg. ■

Supported by

SGH as the largest acute care hospital in Singapore, serves people from all walks of life including those in the lower income bracket. Annually, our medical social workers help hundreds of needy patients, who very often have exhausted all options and are in need of financial assistance for their medical treatments. With the increasing number of needy patients and their families seeking assistance, at least $500,000 is required each year to ensure that the fund is sufficient for our needy patients' usage.

Every dollar raised for SGH Needy Patients Fund provides interim support to our patients and their families who required assistance for medical consumables to ensure our patients are able to reintegrate back into the community with the necessary treatment and care. Your generous donation will provide patients in need with items such as ventilators for asthma patients and stoma bags that the patient will be grateful for. All donations received will be managed and administered by SingHealth Foundation, an Institution of Public Character (UEN Number T02CC1576B) under Ministry of Health.
