“i love you”

written and illustrated by

DR TAM WAI JIA

for
those who dream of love,

Cliff,
for pursuing me recklessly & loving me relentlessly,

and God
for being love.

And in perfect love, there is no fear.

1 John 4:8

What a blessing it is to find someone

whom you can call
a friend.

Someone who can
ride with you

r o u n d

a n d
r o u n d

through your ups,

and

downs.

and through life's

tragic
moments.

Love

goes the
distance,

and makes life

beautiful

but

loving someone

can be
so hard to do.

Love

comes with
good intentions,

yet often gets

lost in translation.

Too many words left unspoken

leave hearts
both
broken.

How come
love hurts?

I'm afraid.

But who said
faintheartedness

ever won
a fight?

Loving another
takes COURAGE

to make yourself
VULNERABLE.

It takes
courage
to plant seeds,

and
pull weeds,

and
courage to give more

than you
receive.

Love is

hard work.

But when we
stop to listen,

and say
“i’m sorry” or “you’re forgiven”...

what a joy it is to find there is always enough love to go around,

enough for both
you and me.

Have you said
“i love you”
today?

Saying “i love you” is never easy.
We hold back and build walls because of old hurts
And the fear of getting wounded.
But we forget,
That loving someone is a risk we take,
A step of faith.

Many broken homes and broken lives
Are a result of lost love.
By loving one another,
We can create homes with laughter,
And protect our children from Divorce. Hurt. Slavery.
We can free them from that Vicious cycle of pain.

We forget that there is always enough Because God is love.

“Love one another, as I have loved you.” John 15:12

Real love works.

Once a deep skeptic of romantic love, Wai Jia never believed she would marry till her divine encounter with Cliff. Together, they are serving the needy all over the world. This book was launched on their wedding day, 27 October 2012, and raised funds to start a social enterprise in Cambodia which employs rescued sex workers.
